About

Stuart has had films screened at various major international film festivals. Artificial Eye's IN OUR NAME (dir: Brian Welsh) and More 4's GUILTY PLEASURES (dir: Julie Moggan) both premiered at the BFI London Film Festival in 2010, and the short film BY THE GRACE OF GOD (dir: Ralitzia Petrova) premiered as part of the official selection at the Cannes Film Festival in 2009.

In 2009 he was named a "Trailblazer" at the Edinburgh International Film Festival (EIFF). This award "celebrates and promotes the best and brightest new filmmaking talent" and showcases "emerging talent, who have produced some of the most innovative and outstanding work of the year".

His score for the multi-award-winning animation YELLOW BELLY END (dir: Philip Bacon) earned him a nomination (alongside sound designer, Zhe Wu) for "Best Sound" at the British Animation Awards 2010. The short has been described as "a thought-provoking, truly original film that combined music, style and animation to create a world and mood of its own" - RSTA 2010. It has also been praised for its "design, soundtrack, pacing and an enigmatic yet strangely compelling universe" - BAA 2010.

Stuart read music at Oxford University before going on to study composition at the National Film & Television School. He was born in London, where he continues to live and work.
